SPACE

A galaxy full of thousands of planets and millions of stars - beyond number but still monolithic. Colliding in harmony, they make a music that's never-ending, hitting a crescendo and never going down. Far out in an uncharted territory, all planets have their own colors and figures, and super powers - putting together dark and light; challenging the concept of day and night. What's a human to do but to orbit them at a distance of millions of miles? And what do we have if we don't have their light?

Just as little kids full of imagination, we gazed at the ethereal sky and sought to interpret what we see using colors. And we designed little planets that you can call your own.

All handmade with passion, each planet is one of a kind. That makes each candle holder have unique lighting too.

Make room for your own space.

sun

Being the planet of self, Sun governs one's personality and ego. As he puts forth light, he brings forth life. Represents individuality, creativity and vitality.
Rules Leo.

mercury

Being in close contact with the Sun, Mercury directs the way we think, communicate and share. He's the messenger; don't shoot the messenger! Represents mind and communication.
Rules Gemini and Virgo.

venus

Being the only planet named after a female goddess, Venus is the most charming planet of all. Represents love and beauty.
Rules Taurus and Libra.

saturn

Being the 'karma police' that it is, Saturn makes us reap what we sow. It likes to drive us to be more disciplined, determined and successful. Represents time, wisdom and progress.
Rules Capricorn and Aquarius.

mars

Mars governs passion and ambition. With its blood red color and raging dust storms, it's little wonder that it's often associated with anger and combat. After all, he's named after the Roman god of war! Represents confidence, physical strength and stamina.
Rules Aries and Scorpio.

jupiter

Being the planet of philosophy, mighty Jupiter is known for his courage, fairness and curiosity. He loves teaching as much as learning. Represents luck, wealth and abundance.
Rules Sagittarius and Pisces.

uranus

As a planet that is not visible to the naked eye, Uranus is associated with the things unnoticed and unseen. Represents change, discovery and originality.
Rules Aquarius.

SPACE
neptune

Named after the Roman god of seas, Neptune domains the watery flow of creativity. Dreams, fantasies and everything that belongs to the subconscious mind is under the influence of her. Represents imagination, illusion and confusion.
Rules Pisces.
